Send this page to someone via email A Canadian man who had been living in China since his youth was arrested by Chinese authorities on Friday over a case of alleged financial fraud. While there are strict rules against dual citizens using Canadian IDs in China, there are also fears those rules are not being enforced. Marc Lepine has lived in Beijing since the age of 10 and has close family ties to the Canadian embassy. A photo on his Facebook page includes an image of a Montreal street sign in Chinese characters. During a police interview in Mandarin, Lepine was accused of fraud and also faced the possibility of being tortured. 1:54 Chinese netizens react to Canadian's arrest: 'What gives you the right to do that?' Chinese netizens react to Canadian's arrest: 'What gives you the right to do that?' Speaking to Global News in a back room of a police station in Beijing, he spoke of the constant threat of deportation and claimed the arrest was a form of torture and his Chinese lawyer had been instructed not to attend. Story continues below advertisement Global News first met Lepine in December 2015. He spoke in English and French, and told Global News his Chinese is "OK," but he said he mostly uses Google Translate to communicate with others. WATCH BELOW: Marc Lepine says living f678ea9f9e
